Catarrhal Dangers. To be freed from the dangers of suffocation while lying down; to breathe freely, sleep soundly and undisturbed; to rise refreshed, head clear, brain active and free from pain or ache; to know that no poisonous, putrid matter defiles the breath and rots away the delicate machinery of smell, taste and hearing; to feel that the system does not, through its veins and arteries, suck up the poison that is sure to undermine and destroy, is indeed a blessing beyond all other human enjoyments. To purchase immunity from such a fate should be the object of all afflicted. But those who have tried many remedies and physicians despair of relief or cure. SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive stages. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never failing. SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT and one IMPROVED INHALER, all wrapped in one package, with treatise and directions, and sold by all druggists for $1.00. DOMESTIC NEWS.

American Troops Ambushed by Geronimo's Hostiles.

ARREST OF FIVE SOCIALISTS

Forecast of the Coming Week in Congress—The Proposed Roman Catholic University at Washington—Sporting Notes.

TUCSON, May 16.—Special from Huachuca: Capt. Hatfield with a troop of cavalry struck Geronimo a heavy blow yesterday morning ten miles south of Santa Cruz, but a few hours later received a [illegible] on his return. Friday afternoon the hostiles, about seventy strong, struck Mileys ranch, [illegible] up thirty horses. Hatfield arrived half an hour later and followed the trail till dark. Yesterday morning he surprised and stampeded the hostiles, capturing their entire camp outfit and horses. He then started for Santa Cruz. In passing through Box canyon a galling fire was suddenly poured upon his command. The men dismounted and made a gallant fight [illegible], losing two killed and [illegible] wounded. Many of the [illegible] Capt. Hatfield reached Santa Cruz, where he will be joined by Lieut. [illegible] with [illegible].

[illegible] with a large Mexican force reached Santa Cruz last night [illegible] in the pursuit this mo[rning] [illegible] with [illegible] and Prefect Rivera [illegible] district are here to consult [illegible].

CALIFORNIA.

[illegible]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16.—Five socialists while [illegible] to-day in [illegible] crowd were arrested [illegible]. The most prominent of them is [illegible] who in his speech also [illegible] to Nob hill and sack the residences of [illegible] Stanford, Crocker and Flood, and [illegible] tribute, with moneys and valuables they found among them. [illegible] Rodeizski's [illegible] written by John Most, entitled [illegible] party and [illegible] as the only infallible [illegible]. The prisoners resisted arrest and their [illegible] clubs. One prisoner [illegible] was rescued from the policemen by a mob [illegible] recaptured. The prisoners were much excited over their arrest, but disclaimed the idea that they were inciting riot.

APPLICATION FOR DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16.—H. H. Sherwood, of the firm of Harrison, Wolf & Sherwood, importers of [illegible], has made application to dissolve the partnership of the firm and to declare it [illegible]. Sherwood claims that the failure of the firm is due to speculations of Mr. Harrison before Mr. Wolf bought into it. When news of the failure [illegible] public the London, Paris and American bank [illegible] attachment for a claim of [illegible] which it had against the firm.

As the Aggie had 3 minutes and 21 seconds time allowance it leaves her winner by 2 minutes and 46 seconds.

STATE DISPATCHES

REPUBLICAN REJOICING AT SALEM

SALEM, May 16.—Cornelius, McBride, Marston and Baker, state republican candidates, arrived here on the train from Portland last evening and were met at the depot by a reception committee, with barouches. Forming in line they united with the Salem republican club and paraded through the principal streets, preceded by the Home Amusement band. Arriving at Reed's opera house the building was found crowded, many ladies being present. Speeches were made by Cornelius, McBride, Marston, Baker, Johns and Boise.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

VICTORIA, May 16.—Sailed, yesterday, steamer Mexico for San Francisco, with the following Victoria passengers: D. B. [W]eeler and wife, J. D. Devlin, James Albright, Miss H. Almas, G. Lowell, Miss Dunsmuir, Miss E. Dunsmuir, G. J. Williams.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS.

THE COMING WEEK IN CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, May 16.—The week will open in the house with overladen calendars, containing special orders for nearly every day, and small chances for action after to-morrow upon anything except appropriation bills. An effort will be made by the public lands committee to pass to-morrow, under suspension of the rules, the bill requiring the Northern Pacific railroad company to pay the costs of surveying and patenting its granted lands, a measure that was called up on last committee suspension day and which comes over as unfinished business. The labor committee will ask the house to fix a day for consideration of bills reported from the committee and now on the calendars. The invalid pensions committee will also make an effort to secure a day for consideration of the arrears of pension bill and other pension measures. The urgent deficiency bill will be called up for action Tuesday and the foreign affairs committee will then endeavor to secure final action on the Chinese indemnity bill. Wednesday is set apart for consideration of the army reorganization bill, and it is likely to be displaced by the report of the postoffice committee to the senate amendments to the postoffice appropriation bill, and a lively debate may be expected when the so-called subsidy amendment is reached. If the banking and currency committee can secure the floor on Thursday in accordance with the assignment it will try to push one of the bills providing for the issue of small silver certificates. Saturday is assigned for the discussion of the Dunn free-ship bill. The legislative and naval appropriation bills will in all probability be reported to the house during the week, and may be called up for consideration to the displacement of some of the special orders above mentioned.

The general pension bill remains unfinished business of the senate, and if disposed of before the expiration of this week, will probably be followed by the bankruptcy bill. The regular order will be temporarily set aside some day not yet determined upon for the purpose of passing the military academy appropriation bill. That portion of the morning hours not consumed by routine business will be devoted to the miscellaneous calendar.

[illegible] TO COLLECT [illegible] OF INTERNAL REVENUE

WASHINGTON, May 16.—The treasury department has issued the following circular:

WASHINGTON, May 1[illegible], 188[6].

The amendatory act of March 1, 1879, section 11, materially changed the provisions of the law relative to the penal sum of tobacco manufacturers' bonds. It fixed definitely minimum and maximum sums, leaving the collector to use his discretion within these limits and to require the penal sum of the bond to be proportioned to the amount of business that the manufacturer proposed to do, giving him the right of appeal to the commissioner of internal revenue. At the time of the passage of that act the tax on manufactured tobacco was three times as much as it is now. Of course, therefore, the interests of the government were then proportionately greater in tobacco manufacture, and it was deemed necessary to require correspondingly larger bonds for the fulfillment of the obligations of the manufacturer. Regulations, series 7, No. 8, revision of [illegible], pages 7 and [illegible], prescribe the rule to be adopted by collectors in computing and fixing the penal sum of the bond of a tobacco manufacturer according to the quantum of business proposed to be done by him. In accordance with this rule, collectors are instructed, in computing the penal sum of such bonds, to add to the minimum of $[illegible],000 for each cutting machine $[illegible]0, for each screw press $[illegible]00, for each hydraulic press $500, for each snuff mill $100, and for each hand or other mill or machine $100, until the maximum sum of $[illegible],000 is reached. JOSEPH S. MILLER, Commissioner.

JUDGE FIELD GOING TO EUROPE

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Justice Stephen J. Field will sail on the Umbria June [illegible] for Europe. He has suffered intensely all winter from rheumatic gout in the right knee. Judge Field could retire from the bench on the 4th of next November, on full pay. At that time he will have been justice of the supreme court for twenty-three years, but it is not his intention to retire. He proposes to round out a quarter of a century. It is probable that within two or three years it will be necessary for the president to select from the Pacific coast a successor to Judge Field, and already the question is asked on whose shoulders the mantle will fall.

THE PRESIDENT'S [illegible] PLANS

WASHINGTON, May 16.—The Post to-day says: The president's summer [illegible] of his sojourn [illegible] now will probably [illegible] in the mountains, where life will be after a simple and primitive fashion. He promised a distinguished Californian who presented an invitation from the agricultural association of that state to think favorably of attending their annual fair in September next, and expressed the pleasure he would anticipate if he could manage to give time to such an extended journey. The distinguished Californian mentioned in the Post is Jesse D. Carr, president of the state agricultural society.

MORE CHARITY BY MRS. STANFORD

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Mrs. Leland Stanford has completed arrangements for the erection of an aged women's home in Albany, which is to be located near her former home in that city. The site is already purchased and a plan settled upon. The structure is to cost $1[illegible]0,000. It will be generously endowed by Mrs. Stanford and is to be placed under the care of a religious body, presumably the Little Sisters of the Poor.

RETURN OF THE STRIKES COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Members of the special committee which the house of representatives sent out West to investigate the strikes and labor troubles on the railroads, returned to Washington to-day.

TEMPORARY PROMOTION

WASHINGTON, May 16.—The acting secretary of the treasury has designated Mr. [illegible] Whitney, cashier, to be acting assistant treasurer during the absence of Mr. W[illegible], who is in bad health.

ROMAN CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY

The Project of Erecting such an Institution in Washington a Success

WASHINGTON, May 16.—The heartiness with which the project of erecting the Washington Roman Catholic university has been received by Catholics in all sections of the country gives sufficient evidence that it will be a [illegible] and concrete before very long. Subscriptions still continue to pour in. Already the sum in hand is sufficient to warrant the commencement of the building. The major portion of a million dollars, which was to be collected for the endowment of the university, is in hand and more is still coming. The committee held a meeting last week in Baltimore and [illegible] three of [illegible] for the building which had been sent in [illegible] the country. It is probable that the best features of these three [illegible] will be incorporated into one when the final design is made. Ground will not be broken [illegible] which [illegible] will be [illegible] rapidly.

[illegible] institution is to be a university and not a college. It will be [illegible] on a similar [illegible] Oxford and Cambridge. It is proposed to give a professional education in the university, but the course will be so modelled that none but post-graduates and those who have received their professional education will be [illegible]. It will be a finishing course [illegible].

At first [illegible] will be confined to three [illegible] philosophy, theology, and [illegible] law and medicine.

[illegible] says that one of the principal reasons that Washington was chosen as the site of the university is that students could here [illegible] with the [illegible] of this and other countries, and [illegible] the [illegible] libraries [illegible] collections, libraries and courses of scientific lectures, etc., which are to be found here.

The question of internal management of the university was the [illegible] much discussion at the last meeting of the committee. Some members favoring the election of a rector and others opposing [illegible]. It was finally decided to elect a rector, which was accordingly done. It is believed that Archbishop Spalding of [illegible] was the man so [illegible]. The management [illegible] the university will be intrusted to members of [illegible] with whom arrangements [illegible].

UPPER COLUMBIA MINES

[News] from the Pend d'Oreille, Calispel and Kootenai Regions—Dissatisfied and Angry Indians.

SAND POINT, Kootenai Co., Idaho, May 13.—[The] mining prospects of the Pend d'Oreille lake, Calispell and [Kooten]ai regions this year is more encouraging than for the past few years. There is [illegible] than at any place I know of. Mr. T. J. D[illegible], of Frenchtown, Montana, with his brother, [illegible] Judge Wo[illegible] of Missoula, and several other old Missoulians were down last week. They left for the old Calispell mission on the Pend d'Oreille [r]iver about forty miles from here by boat, and went to prospecting for placer diggings. They were not very long at work when the Indians came on them, whites with excitement and anger, and ordered them to quit work immediately and go with them to the chief's lodge to have a talk. [illegible] McDonald, son of [illegible] McDonald, of the Hudson Bay Co., who used to be chief factor for the company at Colville in early days, and who was respected and feared by these Indians, was one of the party, and can speak to the Indians in their own tongue as well as themselves. He tried to satisfy the Indians and be allowed to work, but the Indians told them they should leave and not work for any gold, as the whites would come in and take the land away from them. The party was not prepared to fight the Indians, and remembering the old adage that "he who fights and runs away may live to fight another day," they sold the Indians this [illegible] to-day they are down again from [illegible] with rifles in their hands, to stay and see if there is anything to Calispell worth fighting for.

Capt. Norwood is now within three miles of the Calispell mission with a company of soldiers, who will be able to protect any prospectors who are venturesome enough to seek their fortune in the supposed new El Dorado. Lieut. Abercrombie and his surveying party, together with J. M. Buckley, started down the river from here yesterday on the steam launch belonging to Geo. [illegible] as far as the falls of Calispell, and will also be a source of protection to the Missoulians, leaving here to-morrow, unless they reach there before and are scalped by the Indians; but it is expected that the commanding appearance and rough voice of Gen. Buckley is enough in itself to subdue the wild savages into submission, which we earnestly hope, not alone for the amount of trouble and money it will save the government, but for the sake of the N. P. R. R. Co., who could not very well spare the services of their able assistant general manager at present.

The Kootenay mining and smelting company bought the seven-eighths interest in Robert Bainer's and Joe Williams's claims on Lake Pend d'Oreille a few days ago, and are going to put up a smelter on this lake immediately. Dr. Hendry, the manager, has gone into the Kootenai river to take out their large steamboat, to use her on this lake to haul the ore to the smelter. There are a good many other good prospects found near the lake that with a little work may turn out to be very valuable in a few months.

Travel has started from here into Kootenai, B. C. Several men from the Cœur d'Alene and from Butte who have mining interests in the lower Kootenai mines have gone to the [illegible] already, expecting that Capt. Ainsworth is going to start their railroad to connect the mines with the Columbia river this year, which would give them an outlet to ship by way of the Canadian Pacific railroad. It is rumored here that Capt. Ainsworth and Capt. Geo. Wright are on their way up from Victoria to inspect the proposed [illegible] and their valuable mining property in Kootenai lake.

The Hon. H. I. Galbraith arrived down to-day with his large pack train, and reports very favorably on the mining prospects of upper Kootenai for this season. He also says that this will be his last trip to his point, as he can pack cheaper from the Canadian Pacific railroad than from here, as he can save the duties on his goods by buying in Canada, and they are putting a steamer on the Columbia river to run from Donald to the Columbia lakes, which will shorten their packing 100 miles. The steamer will be ready to run by the 1st of June on the upper Columbia lakes.

The news from the upper Kootenai in regard to the Indians is not of an assuring character. [illegible] James Baker, who bought out J. T. Galbraith & Bro.'s homestead at Joseph's prairie last summer, has taken up more land adjoining his ranch and got the deputy surveyor to survey the same, when Isadore, chief of the Kootenais, came on to them and ordered them to quit. He also pulled up all the stakes that were driven, and told the surveyor and Col. Baker that they should not survey or own any more land. The Kootenais have always been a peaceable tribe of Indians and very friendly to the whites until immigration a few years ago commenced to flow into Kootenai and take up the land, which roused the jealousy of the Indians, until they have made up their mind not to allow any more land to be taken up or surveyed by the whites. They can muster about 600 if there is any trouble with the authorities, and if the Canadian government wants to protect immigration into the upper Kootenai country they need to enlist at least 160 soldiers there as soon as possible.

To miners and prospectors who intend coming up here to the Kootenai, Pend d'Oreille and Calispel mines, They can save money and trouble by not buying their outfit until they get here, as they can get everything they want right here that can be got in Portland or Spokan, and just as cheap with freight added. This is the nearest and only starting point to those mines, and John [illegible] and E. I. Weeks have everything that miners need. R.

The Vermont "Fuction,"

Chicago Herald

As they are never able to do anything for themselves the democrats of Vermont are now rejoicing quite enthusiastically in the quarrel between the Blaine and Edmunds factions of the republicans. The republican family fight is a hot one, and the democrats are likely to receive as much consideration in the hands of their old time foes as the negroes of the South do. [illegible] a division in the democratic ranks opens up a profitable field of operations to them.

No Hope for Irish Home Rule at Present.

VIEWS OF JUSTIN McCARTHY

Powderly Denounced by the Cigar Makers Organ—The Church and the Labor Troubles—Rumors of Drought in Texas

LONDON, May 16.—The meetings at Chamberlain's [illegible] on Wednesday and at the Devonshire [club] on Friday have settled the home rule question for the present. Home rule as Gladstone would not [illegible] [illegible] the Gladstone [illegible] declared impossible has occurred. There is a complete understanding between Lord Hartington, whose position in the house and country is stronger than ever, and Chamberlain. Liberal opponents to Gladstone's scheme are now a compact, organized, harmonious body, agreeing both in their resolve to defeat the present bill and in the methods by which its defeat is to be accomplished. Liberal opponents [illegible] against the second reading. [illegible] [illegible] the house. [illegible] who sent [illegible] either to the Chamberlain or to the Lord Hartington meeting [illegible] [illegible] names being given [illegible] publicly signified [illegible] makes a majority [illegible] to be friendly [illegible] either way.

[illegible]

[LONDON], May 1[6].—A formal cabinet council was held [illegible] and to-day Gladstone had [illegible] with his colleagues. It is reported that [illegible] the advice of Mr. Mo[rley] [illegible] decided [illegible] [illegible] Scottish [illegible] parliament.

[illegible] the provinces [illegible] Mr. [illegible] leading with him [illegible] to appeal to the country with the [illegible].

[illegible] will radical protests. To [illegible] had written that [illegible] [illegible] leadership of the liberal party. Chamberlain replied that he would sooner forsake [illegible] than to consent to measures that would prove disastrous to the country.

Mr. Gladstone's committee has asked Chamberlain to formulate a statement of concessions that would reconcile him.

The Parnellites, though assenting to the second reading of the arms bill, will oppose advancing it to the committee stage until after division on the home rule bill.

LONDON, May 1[6].—The Standard says: Mr. Gladstone will [illegible] immediate dissolution of parliament. Some of his colleagues oppose dissolution on account of the disruption in the liberal party.

The grand Orange lodge in New York has sent a cable message to Mr. Johnson, M. P., offering to assist the inhabitants of Ulster.

JUSTIN McCARTHY'S VIEWS

NEW YORK, May 1[6].—Justin McCarthy cables from London to the Herald: I do not myself quite altogether despair of the second reading, even yet, but admit that I am still inclined to take an optimist view. Assume that the bill is defeated on the second reading—what next? The present intention of Gladstone is to dissolve parliament and appeal to the country, and arrangements are being made for such a course. There is an alternative which I [illegible] [if] [he] were a few years younger, I should decidedly urge. That alternative is to resign before the coalition of Hartington and the tories and see what they can make of it. That would prove itself impossible in less than a month. No administration can ever attempt to meet parliament without some scheme for the better government of Ireland. Not much time would pass over before the house of commons and the country would begin to find that they must look to Gladstone alone for the settlement of the Irish question, and he would be recalled to power and would carry a new and better home rule scheme with a rush. But Gladstone cannot hope for strength and length of time for all this. He has no days to throw away. There appears to be no course open to him but to appeal to the country, and I am convinced that the home rule question is much further advanced than many members of the house of commons think.

THE LABOR TROUBLES

POWDERLY DENOUNCED BY THE CIGAR MAKERS' ORGAN

NEW YORK, May 16.—A special dispatch from Buffalo, N. Y., says: The cigar makers seem to be leading the attack of the trades unions on the Knights of Labor, and at the conference which begins in Philadelphia on the 18th inst. a general plan will be mapped out to be acted on at the approaching meeting in Cleveland. Strasser, president of the cigar makers' union, is editor of the official journal, from which the following extracts are taken: "The Journal of United Labor of last month, official organ of the Knights of Labor, contains an article relating to the general scale of prices for cigars adopted by the executive board of the Knights of Labor. In looking over the scale of prices we notice that Knights of Labor are satisfied to work from 20 to 50 per cent below current prices enforced by local unions under jurisdiction of the international union. The attempt to cut down the wages of cigar makers under the cover of labor reform we feel constrained to denounce as a piece of scabbiness of the lowest order. We do not consider it out of place to give the names and occupations of those who have assumed control over the cigar trade, so that we may convince cigar makers of the arrogance of those interlopers who have not the slightest knowledge of the cigar trade. Their names are: T. V. Powderly, machinist; Frederick Turner, grocer and landlord; John W. Hayes, wholesale and retail tea dealer; W. H. Baily, miner; T. [illegible] Barry, axe maker. The attempt of a few men to control and regulate all industries has proved to be a ridiculous failure. It also proves that there is something rotten in the management of the organization known as the Knights of Labor. Should the special session of the Knights of Labor to be held in Cleveland on May 25 fail to remedy these criminal blunders we will denounce them as champions of cheap labor and advocates of low wages, and thus as traitors to the labor cause in general."

THE CHURCH AND THE LABOR TROUBLES

NEW YORK, May 16.—Rev. H. C. Potter, bishop of the diocese of New York, to-day issued a long letter to the Episcopal clergy, containing a series of Christian precepts in regard to the humane relations which should exist between the rich and the poor.

The Times says of it editorially: The Episcopal letter to the clergy of New York is one of the most important contributions to the literature of the present era of conflict between labor and capital. The tone of the epistle is as firm in its condemnation of the illegal and unjustifiable methods recently taken by the strikers to enforce their demands as it is in setting forth the errors in which wealthy church men have fallen in their indifference to the needs of the wage-workers, upon whose skill and muscle their large incomes are mainly dependent. The bishop does not stop to excuse or palliate wrong doings of either of the parties to the great social conflict of the country. If there ever was a social question which appealed to the first work of the church it is the contest which is now waging between employers and their human machinery. The very essence of Christianity is involved in the contest, since the one issue at stake is the proper treatment of man by his brother man. Yet we cannot see that the church has any influence with either party in the contest.

THE LEADING GERMAN SOCIALIST

NEW YORK, May 1[6].—A gentleman who has followed the fortunes of some of the socialists whom Germany has sent to this country says there are in this country at the present time five socialists who have been members of the German parliament. Most is one of them. Hasselman, another, who lives in some obscure quarter of New York, is supported in idleness by his wife, a seamstress. Fritzsche keeps a low dive in Philadelphia. Julius Vahlteich, after living on the money of his dupes for awhile, saw himself reduced to the necessity of earning a living at his old trade, that of cobbler. The fifth is Reimer, who follows the trade of cigarmaker.

A [illegible]

PHILADELPHIA, May 16.—An agreement has been reached between the striking garment cutters and the clothing manufacturers, and the strikers will resume work to-morrow. The men had struck for eight hours, but at a conference last night a compromise was effected on a basis of fifty-[illegible] hours a week, nine and a half hours to constitute a day's work five days in the week, and six and a half hours on Saturday, cutters to receive [illegible] pay for ten hours before the strike. There are about 1000 cutters out [illegible] [illegible] on the [illegible].

EASTERN NEWS ITEMS

DROUGHT IN TEXAS

CHICAGO, May 1[6].—A special to the Times from Big Springs, Texas, says: Reports regarding the effect of the long drought are beginning to [come] in. The plains west of here are parched and the [illegible] carcasses of thousands of cattle are to be seen [illegible] in every direction. No moisture has fallen since last September. J. M. D[illegible] and W. J. Hughes returned to-day from trips as far westward as old Mexico. Mr. D. says that from this side of the Pecos river to Mexico, as far north as Arizona, it is drier than it has been in twenty years. Of seven million head of cattle in Texas, one-third are in the section visited by drought. Cattle are dying by thousands from want of water and grass. There is very little grass anywhere, and what there is is so dry and [illegible] that it does not contain enough substance to [illegible] cattle any good. Cattle are very thin, and [illegible] [if] no rain comes within thirty days the cattle business in western Texas will be ruined. People are very gloomy [illegible]. The drought extends east as far [illegible]. [illegible] clouds have been seen [illegible] [illegible] if it should rain now the cattle [illegible] fat enough for market this year. [illegible] the rate of mortality [illegible] per day. [illegible] over the plains. The stench [illegible] the Texas Pacific west of here is [illegible].

CROP RETURNS

ST. PAUL, May 16.—The Pioneer Press crop reports from the northwest this week with few [exceptions] are of the most favorable character. [illegible] have been followed by cool weather, and vegetation has a vigorous start. In Dakota wheat is four to six inches high, with a better stand than last year. There is some complaint of too much rain in northern Minnesota, and of weeds in the southern part of the state. In Wisconsin the condition is more favorable than last year. Considerable corn is planted, and the ground is in fair condition for seeding. In Iowa most of the corn crop is in the ground, and conditions are favorable. In southern Minnesota and Dakota farmers are nearly through planting corn. There will be a large increase in the acreage of this and [illegible] Dakota.

DROWNED.

NEW YORK, May 16.—A cat-rigged boat upset about 4 P.M. inside of Coney Island point [illegible]. There were several persons on board. Capt. [illegible] of the yacht [illegible] steamed up and saw a man clinging to the boat, but before he could be reached he disappeared. The boat sank soon afterwards and the captain was unable to identify her. He, however, secured a portion of the mainsail, which may lead to her identification and give a clue to the names of the unfortunates who went down with her.

CLEARING HOUSE RETURNS

BOSTON, May 16.—A table compiled from special dispatches to the Post from the managers of the leading clearing houses of the United States shows total gross bank exchanges for the week ending May 15 of $[illegible] 91 712, an increase of [illegible] 2 per cent.

SPORTING NOTES

HAGGIN WITHDRAWS HIS STABLE FROM LOUISVILLE

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 16.—A sensation was caused here to-night by the announcement that J. B. Haggin, the Californian, had issued orders to withdraw his string of horses from the track here and to take them to Latonia. No explanation was offered by him. Haggin has about twenty horses, among them Ben Ali, the Derby winner, who was to start in the Clark stake on Tuesday. Many theories are advanced in regard to the matter. Some say he was dissatisfied with the pool arrangements here, while others declare that he is afraid for Ben Ali to meet Blue Wing again. Haggin's trainer says the removal is due to the fact that some two year old colts are sick and Haggin wants them moved to Latonia so that they could go into training as soon as they are recovered. It is stated that horses entered in the Merchant stake, Fleetwood handicap and Turf stake may be shipped back and start in those events. The stable leaves to-morrow morning.

TYRANT AND VOLANTE MATCHED

LOUISVILLE, May 16.—The following match has been made:

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 16.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to run a match race of one and one half miles, weight for age, between the chestnut gelding Tyrant, 4 years old, by Great Tom, dam La Rose, and Volante, 4 years old, by Grinstead, dam Sister Anne, for the sum of $6000 a side, half forfeit, $2500 each being this day placed in the hands of Philip Dwyer. It is also further agreed that said race shall be run at the spring meeting of 1886 over the St. Louis or Chicago race tracks. If at the latter said race to be run between the dates of June 26 and July 7, 1886. The race is to be run over the track which [ha]s added the most money, said association to name the day we shall run said day not to interfere with any previous engagement of the above-named horses.

TWO MURDERERS LYNCHED

[illegible], May 16.—A special to the Times-Union says: Ben and Lon Mann, who murdered Marshal Campbell and wounded officer McCormick at [illegible] Saturday, were lynched late that night. A crowd of 200 men surrounded the jail, disarmed the sheriff and took the keys and took the prisoners to a tree near by. While stringing Dan Mann Lon got loose and ran. He was promptly winged and strung up to the same limb. The coroner cut them down and a verdict was rendered of death by violence at the hands of unknown parties. Very little secrecy was observed by the mob. McCormick will recover.

A LAWYER KILLED

ATLANTA, Ga., May 16.—Frank P. Gray, a leading lawyer of [illegible], was shot and killed in the west[ern] [illegible] to-day by Town Marshal Jones. The tragedy [is the] result of a dispute about a dog. Jones is in jail.

THE FIRE RECORD

BIG DISTILLERY BURNED

PEORIA, Ill., May 16.—This morning the watchman at the Enterprise distillery at Pekin discovered the building to be on fire. An alarm was at once given, but before the firemen reached the scene the building was wholly enveloped and the fire beyond control. The distillery with all machinery and contents was entirely destroyed. The building contained 2[illegible],600 bushels of grain and [illegible],000 gallons of alcohol. Four cars of corn on the track were also destroyed, together with all of the government books. The total value of the property is estimated at $2[illegible]0,000, on which there was insurance of about $65,000. The fire originated in the leach room and was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary.

STATE CHARITIES AND CORRECTIONS.

SALEM, May 15.

Dr. [H]. W. Hill of this city has for several years past been engaged in an effort to provide for systematic supervision of the charities and corrections of the state. His lecture in Portland last February set forth the necessity of such an organization, and awakened an interest all over the state. This has borne fruit in the organization of a volunteer association of charities and corrections in connection with and co-operating with the state board of pardons, of which the governor is ex-officio president. This association has members in every county in the state, and will do a good work in preparing the way for a state board whenever that may be organized by act of legislature. A bill for that purpose has been prepared and will be submitted next winter, which will undoubtedly become a law. The association will be represented at the national convention of charities and corrections which will meet at Minneapolis in July of the present year. The secretary is Rev. H. W. Hill, D. D., Salem, Oregon, to whom all communications should be addressed.

PORTLAND, MONDAY, MAY 17, 1886.

PERHAPS ONE OF THE CASES.

President Cleveland, in a recent message, denounced the frequent passage by congress of special pension bills for the relief of persons whose claims have been carefully traversed by the pension department, and rejected as not valid. In the majority of cases the record of the pension department shows that the claim has been rejected upon clear evidence of fraud and falsehood on part of the claimant. A case is cited where early in the war a man enlisted, and succeeded in passing the hasty examination of a young, green volunteer surgeon, despite the fact that he was unfit to be a soldier, owing to an injury to one of his legs, received when a boy. The hitch in his gait was not easily noticed by a stranger seeing him walk a few steps, but under the fatigue of a long march increased to positive lameness. The fellow enlisted knowing that sooner or later he could get discharged, and in the meantime, if he once passed muster, he could secure the state and government bounty and pay, and could shirk out of serious fatigue or dangerous duty through his convenient game leg. He broke down on every march, he shirked out of every engagement, and finally getting into hospital, was discharged the service about fifteen months after his enlistment. He never applied for any pension until the arrears of pension act was passed, and then he put in his claim; he described his game leg, which he had carried since childhood, as the result of an injury received by him "at the battle of Savage Station, June 30th, 1862, when his regiment supported a battery; that the battery became stampeded by the fire of the enemy and rushed through the ranks of his company; that he was knocked down and run over by a caisson and received this permanent injury to his leg." The pension department proved that the battle of Savage Station was not fought on the 30th, but on the 29th of June; that his regiment did not support a battery at all on that day or on any other day during the campaign; that the claimant was reported absent without leave from his company during all the fighting of the campaign, and that therefore if he received any injury it was while dodging, not discharging his duty. The pension department also proved by the testimony of his comrades and playmates that he always had this "game leg" before enlistment, and that he was never present with his company at any action during his whole term of service. And yet, in spite of this overwhelming proof that the claimant was a shirk and a fraud and a liar, several Vermont congressmen, including Senator Edmunds, persisted year after year in trying to pass a special bill for this fellow's relief. When a non-commissioned officer, who had been sworn, in denial of the justice of this claim, by the pension department, wrote Senator Edmunds that of his own personal knowledge he had taken his oath that his regiment did not support a battery, and his company was not run down by any caisson; that the claim of his company comrade was a gross lie, the astute lawyer, who, in his desire to posture as the soldiers' friend, had for once omitted to "object," replied that the official reports of the war department showed that there was artillery engaged "in the vicinity" of the claimant's regiment at the battle of Savage Station. This answer may have been lawyerlike, but to a soldier, who has a lively sense of the difference between supporting a battery and "having artillery in your vicinity," it was a very ignorant and inconclusive answer, especially as the official report of the part taken by the regiment, made by its colonel, describes a battle that the claimant evidently never saw. For aught we know, this claim is amongst those whose passage excited the ire of President Cleveland. If it is, the president ought to ask Senator Edmunds for "all the papers in the case." They would make rich reading.

A SUGGESTION TO THE CANDIDATES.

This year the candidates for the state offices are not "debating" together before the people. Mr. Pennoyer and Mr. Butler have laid out a pretty extensive tour; but we do not hear that Col. Cornelius is going before the people with a series of appointments in any formal way; while the absence of Mr. Hermann at Washington will prevent the people from hearing him during the canvass. Mr. Miller, prohibition candidate for congress, is making speeches at many places, and we are told will continue in the field till election day; but we do not hear that Mr. Houston, prohibition candidate for the governorship, has made any appointments. Now, inasmuch as THE OREGONIAN desires to deal fairly with all, and inasmuch as it reaches almost every voter in the state, it offers to print a speech by each of the gubernatorial candidates. It suggests that each of the candidates prepare a speech, or reduce to form proper for publication the general drift or substance of what he is delivering to the people in his oral speeches,—presenting in a plain and candid way the claims of his party and of himself to the favor and support of the country. It is impossible for the candidates to see any very considerable part of the electors; it is impossible for any large part of the electors to attend their appointments or hear them speak, but THE OREGONIAN is read everywhere, not only in the towns and cities, where it is delivered by daily mail or express, but in the remotest parts of the state, where the packages of THE OREGONIAN constitute the bulk of the weekly mail. Through this paper, therefore, the candidates may reach by far the larger part of the voters of the state, if they desire. In the spirit that befits a general newspaper, THE OREGONIAN makes this offer to all the candidates for the governorship, and it trusts they will respond.

The man or the paper that has range enough to discuss a considerable variety of subjects, and to examine them from many points of view, is sure to be taxed with "inconsistency" by enemies or opponents of little and narrow minds. A dense, sodden, impenetrable stupidity can pride itself always on being "consistent," and is sure to experience the worst of its epileptic paroxysms when it is on the hunt for something in the course pursued by others which it can carp at as "inconsistent." It is only on such occasions that the dense, sodden, impenetrable stupidity aforesaid is galvanized into any sign of life. Otherwise its existence is a total blank. It can be "consistent," if nothing else. So can a clam; so can a jackass. So can such papers as The Dalles Times-Mountaineer.

If it is right for temperance women to attend upon polling places and give sandwiches and lemonade or rosebuds to voters as a means of gaining their votes, it is right for liquor men to do the same thing. If it is right to give a glass of lemonade, which costs five cents, to influence a vote, it is right to give the five cents outright. If it is right to give five cents, it is right to give two dollars and a half, or a hundred. Women will gain nothing but humiliation by mixing with the rabble on election day. When men do this sort of thing, it is condemned by decent people everywhere as vicious. If women do it, it will be called silly.

Martin Irons proposes to turn his brief notoriety to account by lecturing. When a man once turns "leader," never thereafter does he earn his living by honest labor. The promoter of a causeless and disastrous strike and the worker of infinite mischief to the cause of labor, he has about the same right to patronage from workingmen as the devil would have, were he to appear on earth, from mankind. But, nevertheless, Irons will live by the sweat of his jaw from this time on and working men will put up the dollars to hear his mischievous talk.

It is not known if the collars worn by the ring candidates have ever been washed by Chinamen or not. Cornelius, be it remembered, only specified as to his shirt.

The organs are wasting a vast amount of snipe shot on THE OREGONIAN.

THE REASON WHY.

Mr. C. S. Jackson, of Pendleton, is making a tour in the South, and from week to week gives through his paper the East Oregonian, admirable notes of his observations. He is a Southern man by birth and far from holding any prejudice against the South, is inclined by every natural sympathy to make as pleasant a report as possible. But his letters now coming from Virginia, present a dismal picture indeed. Thrift and enterprise, he says, are beyond the comprehension of the average Virginian when at home, though he is in possession of one of the richest soils in the world. The people are entirely under the influence of indolence, wrestling with questions of little importance to their welfare, holding on to beliefs and opinions of the dead past. He says:

> The state's resources are unsurpassed, yet are undeveloped. The people in one portion of the state depend upon the production of tobacco, while those of another are dependent upon the destruction of the forests, and are actually living on what they can sell out of the woods. Those of another section solely subsist upon the money obtained for fish and oysters, while others live on the slim products of a badly cultivated country. There is no modern improvement to be seen anywhere outside of the cities and places of resort. Even in the beautiful valleys of the James and Shenandoah one seldom sees a new building or fence, the same old structures and fences of the bygone being made to serve the purpose of the present. Torn-down dwellings and dilapidated negro quarters meet the eye in every direction. From Richmond to Lynchburg, a distance of 147 miles, I failed to see a decent barn or outhouse.

These remarks as to Virginia are equally true of all the "old South." Here and there, in Georgia particularly, the spirit of energy and thrift has taken hold, but for the most part, the country lies inactive and decaying in the hands of a people who think of the past rather than of the present, who hold in aristocratic and pitiful contempt all the methods of prosperity and progress in this stirring age. There is the old contempt for labor, the old false pride in useless things. If necessity in another generation does not work a reform of ideas, the south will go from bad to worse.

Why is it that the southern states have not gained a share of the new and vigorous immigration which in the past twenty years has peopled the west? Why is it with their splendid resources and fine climate, that they lie idle and desolate? A matter of local ideas, altogether. The aristocratic, exclusive and utterly foolish spirit of the southern people has barred the door. Immigration, if desired, as we are told it is, is not made welcome. Innovation, even for the better, is discouraged because it violates old ideas and prejudices. There has been no welcome, no co-operation for enterprise. It has not even been let alone to follow its own energetic course.

It is a hard thing to say but it is the truth, that the South needs and must have an entirely new people before it can go ahead with the rest of the world. The present generation with its exclusive, aristocratic and false notions must go to its grave before the country can be redeemed.

A Gloucester schooner put into Digby, Nova Scotia, for bait. For years the American fisherman has bought his bait in the Nova Scotia ports at the market price and the Nova Scotia people have been glad to sell it. The government steamer Lansdowne seized the Gloucester schooner and it is in danger of confiscation. The treaty, which opened all ports east of Maine to our fishermen and allowed them to catch fish wherever they could find them expired by limitation last summer. Under that treaty British subjects could enter our ports as freely as we could theirs, but since the expiration of the treaty we have had no fishery rights save those guaranteed by the treaty of 1818, under which we are barred from entering the harbors of Nova Scotia for any other purpose than shelter or to get wood or water. The Gloucester schooner exceeded our treaty rights and therefore has been seized and is liable to be confiscated. The situation is a very stupid one for two great commercial nations, who are near neighbors, to be placed in, and it ought to be solved promptly by the negotiation of a reciprocity treaty with the Canadian Dominion under which such seizures would be impossible.

The solemn but somewhat indefinite warnings and threats of the "ring" organs to punish THE OREGONIAN for its indifference to party discipline recalls the address of Capt. Skidmore of the Austin Colored Invincibles to his company. He said: "I wants de members ob dis command to understand, onst for all, dat we meets for drill regularly ebery Friday ebening at 8 o'clock in dis heah hall, and de member what fails ter put in an appearance will be—" "Shot to deff?" interrupted Corporal Jim Webster. "Drapped from de ranks for a deserter?" asked Lieut. Sam Johnsing. "Wusser dan dat ar," continued the captain amid a solemn silence that was almost painful, "de member what fails to appear will be looked upon as habin' been absent from de drill."

J. A. MARSHAL'S NOTICE.—IN ADMIRALTY.—The bark "Director," and 16,558 bags of wheat.—United States of America, District of Oregon, ss.—Whereas, an order was made on the — day of May, 1886, by the Hon. Matthew P. Deady, Judge of the District Court of the United States for the District of Oregon, in a cause therein pending, wherein Balfour Guthrie & Co. are libellants against the bark "Director," her tackle, apparel and furniture, and against 16,568 bags of wheat, marked "W," commanding that the said bark "Director," her tackle, apparel and furniture, and the said 16,568 bags of wheat, should be sold, pursuant to the interlocutory sentence and decree of said Court made and pronounced on May 4, 1886, upon fourteen days' notice of the time and place of sale, to be published in the Daily Oregonian, at Portland, for cash in hand, to the highest bidder, and that the proceeds of such sale be delivered to the Clerk of said Court. Now, therefore, I hereby give notice that, in pursuance of said order, and of the writ of venditioni exponas issued in accordance therewith, to me directed and delivered, I will, on Tuesday, the 18th day of May, 1886, at 1 o'clock in the afternoon of said day, at the wharf at the foot of B street in the town of Flanders' Warehouse, at Portland, in said District, where said vessel now lies, sell the said bark "Director," her tackle, apparel and furniture, at public auction, to the highest bidder therefor, for cash in hand; and immediately thereafter, on said day, at Flanders's warehouse, on said wharf, I will sell the said 16,568 bags of wheat, marked "W," to the highest bidder therefor, for cash in hand.
Dated at Portland, in said district, this 3d day of May, 1886.
PENUMBRA KELLY,
U. S. Marshal for the District of Oregon.

FAILURE OF JOINT DEBATE.

ROSEBURG, May 11, 1886.

The democratic candidates for congress and governor back down and refuse to meet the prohibition candidates in joint discussion, after making the challenge, as follows: "The nominees of the democratic party will address the citizens of Oregon at the times and places hereinafter designated, and respectfully request the opposing candidates to participate in the canvass." Immediately on publication of this challenge W. F. Owens, secretary of the prohibition state central committee, telegraphed Mr. Goldsmith, chairman of the democratic state central committee, as follows:

ROSEBURG, May 7, 1886.

Chairman of democratic state central committee: Will democratic candidates divide time with prohibition candidates for congress and governor? Answer.
W. F. OWENS,
Secretary of Prohibition State Central Com.

To which Mr. Goldsmith made the following reply:

PORTLAND, Or., May 10, 1886.

W. F. Owens, Roseburg: Just returned to town and received your dispatch of 7th. Will consult and write to you.
B. GOLDSMITH,
Chairman of Democratic State Central Com.

The following, after four days' delay, reached me and discloses the humiliating spectacle of the great democratic party, after due consultation by its chosen standard bearers, refusing to meet in joint discussion the opposition candidates, after having extended to them an invitation. Read Mr. Goldsmith's letter:

PORTLAND, May 11.

W. F. Owens, Esq., Secretary of Prohibition State Central Committee, Roseburg, Or. Dear Sir: On account of the short time intervening between now and election day, our candidates for congress and governor will be much hurried to keep their appointments, hence they cannot divide time with the prohibition candidates, and are therefore, with all due respect to your party, reluctantly compelled to decline your proposition in your telegram of the 7th inst. Very respectfully,
B. GOLDSMITH,
Chairman Democratic State Central Com.

Temperance men of the state of Oregon, this shameful backdown on this question, after making an open challenge, coupled with Mr. Gearin's (recent leader and candidate on the democratic ticket for congress) remarks that a majority of the committee were opposed to prohibition, ... said "we would be cowards if we did not give the people a chance" to vote on the question. ... also said that the position of the democratic party on this and other questions, involving the right of men to attend to their own affairs in their own manner, needed not be set forth. This astute and cunning political leader, who no doubt drew the submission resolution, drew it so as not to compromise the democratic party in the least. The democratic resolution favoring the submission of the pending amendment provides and favors the submission of the pending amendment regulating the liquor traffic. No such amendment is pending, and the democratic committee no doubt understood it at the time. There is an amendment pending not to regulate, but to prohibit. Temperance voters, do you see the difference? Be not deceived in supporting candidates who occupy so uncertain a position. You cannot afford at the sacrifice of the manhood and womanhood of the county, state and nation, to support the nominees of any party not pronounced in positive terms on this question. Then let these political tricksters and skillful platform makers be rebuked at the polls by the votes of the friends of prohibition.
W. F. OWENS,
Secretary of Prohibition State Central Committee.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

UNFAIR ADVANTAGE.—A little incident which happened out at the pigeon shooting match at the White house a few days since in which two Front street merchants were the principals has just come to light. The parties would not like to have their names mentioned, so the first one will be called Kelly. He had watched the shooting with great interest, and had loudly applauded the good shots of his friend, the "boss." At the conclusion a fellow merchant whose place of business is near his own came up to Kelly and asked him why he was not shooting. "Never shot a gun in my life but once," was the reply. "You are just one ahead of me, then," said the friend. "Let's shoot a match." says Kelly. "We'll shoot at five clay pigeons for $5." "Done," was the rejoinder. Two guns were borrowed, the traps were sprung and five clay pigeons rose gaily into the air and Kelly gaily missed them all. Then his friend's turn came and he missed four handsomely. When Kelly said, "He you go, you miss the next one." The bet was taken and the next one was knocked to flinders. "A scratch! a scratch!" yelled the spectators, and Kelly at once challenged the victor for another match. He accepted and without an effort broke four pigeons in succession. Kelly began to suspect that something was wrong, and sidling up to Fos. Schenck he inquired: "Do you think it is true that Knapp never shot a gun before?" "Why, you sucker," said Schenck, "can't you tell by the way he holds his gun. He used to be one of the best shots in Portland." Kelly enjoyed the joke as well as any of the boys, but he is not going to be picked up that way again.

STILL ALARM.—The Hook & Ladder Co. answered to an alarm by telephone from the residence of Chief of Police Parrish, corner of First and Market streets, at noon yesterday. Some waste paper had been thrown in the stove in the sitting room, the blaze from which set the soot in the chimney on fire. Some sparks from the blazing chimney set fire to the roof, and when a hole had been burned through this fact was discovered. A handy garden hose and a ladder left by some painters enabled the fire to be extinguished before any serious damage was done. Policeman Beach, who occupies a room in the house, was asleep at the time. The roaring of the burning chimney did not disturb him, and when the cap over the stove-pipe hole in his room was blown off he still slumbered calmly. But when the room had become full enough of smoke to choke a ham, he awoke and for a moment imagined that he had crossed the river while he slept and the next moment was hunting for fresh air.

DEATH OF A PIONEER.—Elijah Williams, whose dangerous illness was noticed in these columns a few days since, died at noon yesterday at his residence in East Portland, aged 76 years. The immediate cause of his death was stoppage of the circulation, owing to general debility from old age. He became unconscious at noon on Saturday and twenty-four hours after breathed his last, without a struggle, as he had often expressed a wish that he might. Mr. Williams came to Oregon in 1851 and resided at Salem for many years. He has been a resident of East Portland for ten years past. He leaves four children: Hon. Richard Williams, Maj. George Williams of Salem, Mrs. M. A. Stratton of Oregon City, and Emmet Williams of this city. It is probable that the funeral will take place at Salem on Tuesday, but further notice will be given of this matter when all arrangements are completed. By invitation Judge W. W. Thayer will make some remarks at the funeral.

FASTEST SAILING PASSAGE.—Mr. I. M. Keys of Tillamook, Ore., evidently a close reader of THE OREGONIAN and friendly enough to give it information, writes under date of the 12th inst. to correct what he considers an error in the record of fast sailings published last Monday. He sends a copy of Harper's Magazine for December 1884, containing a very interesting article by G. W. Sheldon on "The Old Packet and Clipper Service." The writer says: "Lieut. Maury of the United States naval observatory at Washington reported that the greatest distance ever performed from noon to noon on the ocean was 433 statute miles, by the clipper ship Flying Cloud in her celebrated passage of eighty-four days from New York to San Francisco, which yet stands unequaled." Lieut. Maury knew the record of fast sailings as well as any man of his time, but he is misquoted. The fastest passage was eighty-nine days and six hours, as stated by THE OREGONIAN.

SUIT AGAINST THE CITY.—When the council, after a great deal of balking and fiddling, concluded to pay for the bridges on Corbett street out of the general fund, it was hoped that the end of trouble about these bridges had been reached. But now comes W. S. Bruce and makes complaint to the chief of police and declares his intention of bringing suit against the city to recover damages in a sum unknown on account of his horse having injured a foot by pushing it under an apron at the bridge on Corbett street near the Children's home. It appears that Mr. Bruce was driving across the bridge in a dog cart and was leading an extra horse behind the vehicle, when, owing to the bad and imperfect condition of the apron, the animal's foot was caught, the leg badly scratched and the shoe and a portion of the hoof torn off. The complainant was referred by the chief of police to the street superintendent, the city attorney and the city officials generally.

FATAL SHOOTING.—A Myrtle Point correspondent of the Coast Mail writes under date of May 8 as follows: "News has just reached here of the accidental killing of Fred Bliss of New Bedford, Bristol county, Mass. He left a wife and three children at home, was a merchant, and when he left home to visit this country he left his business in charge of his daughter. He was killed near Wm. Warner's place on the south fork of the Coquille. The shot was from a 45-60 Winchester rifle and passed through his body near his heart. No further particulars of the affair have been received and the above does not tell with sufficient clearness whether the shooting was by his own hand or otherwise, although the inference would be that it was not."

SUMMER HERE.—Those who have been complaining of the cool, moist, cloudy weather of the past few weeks must have enjoyed the glorious weather yesterday. The sun beamed in splendor from an unclouded sky and the thermometer climbed to 81 degrees. Butterflies and insects of many kinds sported in the sunshine and the birds which have been comparatively quiet of late were out in full force. It seemed as if summer had come to stay, but there are some indications that the weather is not settled yet. It will take only a few days like yesterday to bring strawberries to market. They will be a little late, but there should be plenty of them and good ones.

ANOTHER LUMBERMEN'S ASSOCIATION.—A corporation called the Upper Willamette Lumber Manufacturing association was organized at Eugene City on the 13th inst. It proposes to engage in the business of buying and selling lumber and other merchandise, with the principal office at Eugene. Six mills located in the vicinity of Eugene City and having a daily capacity of 50,000 feet are represented by subscription to its stock, and others are expected to join in the movement. Directors elected were J. C. Goodale, A. Wheeler and [illegible] Crawford. J. C. Goodale president and A. Wheeler secretary.

[illegible]—Pendleton lodge No. [illegible] was reorganized at Pendleton on the 13th inst. by Prof. William Crowther, grand lecturer. Following are the officers: J. I. Miller [illegible] [illegible] Mrs. J. C. Kirkman [illegible] Miss Etta Campbell [illegible] Miss Carrie [illegible] Kay [illegible] Hasbrook [illegible] Mrs. N. Hendricks [illegible] Harry Hendricks [illegible] Miss Ada Milton [illegible] J. C. Kirkman, chaplain.

THE OREGON AND CALIFORNIA SALE.—Mr. [illegible], receiver of the Oregon & California [illegible] returned last week from New York [illegible] [illegible] the status of the proposed sale of the Oregon & California lines to the Central Pacific [illegible] Negotiations are still in progress [illegible]

ENTERTAINMENT.—The little folks of the [illegible] Sunday school will give an entertainment at the chapel [illegible] Montgomery streets to-morrow (Tuesday) evening, beginning at a quarter to eight o'clock. The programme is made up of cunning little recitations, dialogues, music and tableaux, also a juvenile edition of the famous Jarley wax figures. Having done their very best to prepare something rich and good, they hope to greet a full house.

SALMON CATCHING AT CELILO.—For the past two weeks the catch of salmon at Celilo has been very large. As a railroad man expressed it, "the river is black with fish." Shipments for the past week have been about 400 boxes a day. Most of them go over the Short Line to supply the eating houses and hotels of the Pacific Hotel company in Kansas, Nebraska and Missouri. The catch is now about eight tons a day.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.—Judge Deady will announce a decision in this court this morning in the case of Seeley v. Reed, on motion for an injunction, also on the petition of Scott, receiver of the narrow gauge railroad, for leave to build warehouses.

PRESENTATION.—The baseball friends of Mrs Creegan, wife of the catcher of the Stars, who defeated the Portlands yesterday, was presented last evening with a fine pair of suitably engraved and [illegible] pairs of gloves.

COW BOY POETRY.

Another Oregon poet has risen above the horizon. In fact, he has shot up like a rocket from the canyon of Fish creek and is still blazing and coruscating in the blue empyrean. When he hears from the effusion he sent to THE OREGONIAN he will come down like a stick. He has kindly forwarded a poem of seven pages, which he says he composed in forty minutes. It has taken the office expert four hours to read it, and he did not seem satisfied with the result. Following are the opening stanzas, which give a faint indication of the richness of the remainder:

TO THE BUCCARO OR COW BOY.

The wild buccaro is as bold and brave
As any nation can ask or crave
And as light and free as the boundless prairie
And so graceful he rides as the dark surging tide
Breaks on the ocean's rough rugged shore
Like the wild broncho who bucks forevermore!

It appears that the young man came out here sickly and pale to "rove the plain," and the buccaros treated him well. He concludes as follows:

"So I bid them adieu
My fortune to seek,
With a new constitution
And wealth in my cheek."

He is right about his cheek: he has a bonanza. He says he is going to cross the plains and will send an account of his trip and more poetry, and remarks that if the contribution is worth anything a check will be very acceptable to him. He has been forwarded a blank check, for genius must be encouraged, but it is short lived, and the readers of THE OREGONIAN will probably never hear from Mr. Brown again.

THE EAST SIDE.

Arrest for Abusive Language—Illness of County Clerk Sanders—General Notes.

Frank Hewitt, a blacksmith in the employ of F. Strachle on I street, was arrested on Saturday evening by H. I. McMillan, city marshal, on complaint of A. Lemke for abusive language. It appears that Hewitt and Lemke have had some disagreement regarding the payment of a liquor bill due the latter, and Hewitt on last Thursday gave his creditor a severe tongue lashing. On being arraigned in the recorder's court Hewitt pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $5, which he paid.

THE COUNTY CLERK ILL.

County Clerk E. N. Sanders was taken suddenly and seriously ill at an early hour yesterday morning. For a time it was thought Mr Sanders would certainly die, but prompt measures, under the direction of Dr. S. Smith, brought him around all right. When THE OREGONIAN reporter called last evening Mr Sanders was resting comfortably, and the physician spoke confidently of his patient's entire recovery in a day or two. The ailment is inflammation of the bowels, accompanied by a severe congestive chill.

NOTES.

Regular meeting of the common council to-night.

A fisticuff between two hot-headed individuals took place near the I street depot on Saturday afternoon, resulting in a black eye for one and a cut lip for the other. No arrests.

Some miscreant yesterday administered poison to city marshal McMillan's valuable dog Villard, from the effects of which the animal died. Mr. McMillan is justly indignant over the matter, and would pay handsomely for any clue leading to a discovery of the guilty parties.

A little boy named Orion, who was with a number of companions perched surreptitiously upon the high board fence surrounding the Oaks baseball ground yesterday, lost his balance and fell heavily to the ground, dislocating his left elbow. Dr. M. A. Flinn adjusted the damaged member and the boy went on his way rejoicing.

Two gentlemen, formerly residents of Fargo, Dak., are now in this city making arrangements for the establishment of a banking house here. The gentlemen have had large experience in the business they propose engaging in, having conducted a banking house in Fargo for a number of years. Further particulars of the new enterprise will be developed in a few days.

SALEM NOTES.

SALEM, May 15.

Governor Moody has returned home from The Dalles.

Major M. J. Freeman of Portland is in the city on a flying business trip.

Frank H. Alleston has accepted a clerkship in the office of the secretary of state.

W. F. Lemon has rented the former residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Patterson on State street.

George H. Thurston and J. R. Stoddard of Portland have been appointed notaries public for Oregon.

William G. and Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Woodworth of Salem were visiting friends and relations in Salem during the past week.

Active operations have commenced on the proposed improvements on the state capitol building, a large force of carpenters and other mechanics being employed.

Three fire alarms for two days is our record for the present week, the loss on two being nominal, and the third, Beamen's residence, inside the city limits, entailed a loss of about $600, while Capitals No. 1 still carry the fox tail.

The citizens of Aurora contemplate having a royal celebration of the glorious Fourth, having already taken steps towards that end. Mrs. F. R. Hawes of Astoria is visiting her sister, Mrs. Ben Strang, of this city. She has many personal friends here.

Hon. C. B. Moores and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Gatch, Hon. John G. Wright and wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Rosenberg, and other Odd Fellows and their families will start for The Dalles on Monday next to attend the annual session of the R. W. Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows.

Some miserable sneak thief, not having the fear of the Lord before his eyes, entered the building on the ranch of Mr. S. A. Clarke, of this city, and relieved it of a good supply of household provisions that were stored there for the edification [illegible] of the proprietor and family.

Prof. Coomer is organizing and instructing a juvenile brass band and from the interest the little fellows take in the matter it will only be a question of time when they will become successful competitors of the now justly celebrated Roseburg band. They meet every fifteen minutes for practice and are highly enthusiastic.

Salem never looked more beautiful and picturesque than it does at the present time. The foliage is simply grand, and shrubbery, fruits and flowers add their attractions to the scene. Visitors contemplating a trip to the capital will do well to avail themselves of the present time and thus see it under the most auspicious circumstances.

Commencement exercises at the Academy of the Sacred Heart in this city will take place on June 1st, and the following young ladies will comprise the graduating class: Misses Lila E. Hirsch, Katie Dalrymple and Julia B. Coffey, of this city; Kate M. Siglin, Marshfield; Della Nelson, of Independence, and Miss Zula Painter, of Brooks.

Mrs. Mary Sheridan has instituted a suit against the city for $5000 damages for injuries received by reason of a defective cross walk within the city limits in May, 1885. A special meeting of the common council was held last evening and a special committee appointed to engage counsel and take such steps as were deemed necessary to protect and defend the best interests of the city in the premises.

The congregation of the La Grande First Presbyterian church has filed articles of incorporation in the office of the secretary of state, with Robert M. [illegible], R. F. Bryan and W. J. Snodgrass as trustees. Also the Upper Willamette lumber manufacturers association, with James G. Goodale, W. B. Peugra and E. J. Crawford as incorporators; principal office, Eugene City; capital stock $5000. Also the Columbia canning company, of Astoria; incorporators, J. F. McGovern, G. H. Stewart and C. Wilson; capital stock $50,000.

John D. Belt and family contemplate moving to McCoy the latter part of the present month. Sheriff Martin of Umatilla county, accompanied by Deputy Reading, arrived here last evening, having in charge two prisoners, who were turned over to the prison authorities. Deputy Sheriff L. J. Jacobs of Jackson county arrived here yesterday having in charge one F. Steffens, who was convicted of a nameless crime and sentenced to two and one-half years in the Oregon penitentiary. John Campbell of Portland and Alonzo Clough, of Portland, and S. G. Hearn of this county have been adjudged insane and committed to the asylum. A crowd of Salem's young folks visited the insane asylum last evening to attend one of the semi-weekly dances indulged in by the inmates. They were cordially welcomed and reported themselves highly pleased with the events of the evening.

As soon as the smoke of election strife shall have cleared away the Salem fire department will enter vigorously upon active preparations for the forthcoming meeting of the Firemen's association of Oregon and accompanying State Firemen's tournament, which takes place in this city commencing Wednesday, September 8, and continuing three days. Meantime it is hoped that outside departments will make preparations to be with us in large numbers, as exciting sports are anticipated. Lebanon Engine Co. No. 1 of Lebanon has made application to join the association, and will probably send a hose team. Eugene Engine Co. No. 1 will have a new cart and will come down prepared to make it lively for all competitors. Capital Engine Co. No. 1 of this city anticipate the arrival by that time of their new steamer and propose entering the list as competitors for further championship honors. In fact everything indicates the most successful tournament known in the history of the state.

PORT MOODY NOTES.

PORT MOODY, B. C., May [illegible]

[illegible] has sold his [illegible] to [illegible] hotel of [illegible] Armand.

[illegible]

Messrs. D. B. Grant and [illegible] Perry are in Victoria, the latter to meet his wife from the East.

General Superintendent Abbott, of the C. P. R. R., is expected daily from the East over the road.

Thomas Levi, the new landlord of the Delmonico hotel, will give a house warming party on the 21st.

The final entertainment of the Port Moody literary society Friday evening, in aid of the Sunday school, was very successful.

Elliot & McCoskery, of Yale, have purchased the furniture and lease of the Elgin house of W. A. [illegible] and taken possession.

[illegible] Ewing, of Lancaster, Ohio, recently vice consul at Amsberg, Germany, the new consul for the mainland of British Columbia, is very popular, and has been received with much courtesy.

The Titania, which has arrived at Victoria from Liverpool in the remarkable short time of 109 days, brought the iron piles and a lot of other material for rebuilding the railway wharf at Port Moody.

Contractor Fred Beebe has the ties for the New Westminster and Vancouver branches nearly all out. Work on the New Westminster branch is being rapidly pushed, but on the Vancouver branch is going slowly, owing to trouble in securing the right of way.

The steamer Princess Louise, the Canadian Pacific Navigation company's finest vessel, is now on the Port Moody and Victoria route, making tri-weekly trips. After the 28th inst. all up country freight and passengers will be transferred at this point instead of at Port Hammond, on the Fraser river, as formerly.

BRIEF MENTION.

The whole show at the Tivoli is in Baker and Jones, though the other artists are really good.

Sale of reserved seats for Co. G.'s minstrel entertainment at 8 o'clock this morning at McKercher & Thompson's.

The railroad men on Washington street have organized a base ball club and will play the Ash street dock club Saturday, May 29.

Night fishing for trout is becoming quite the fashion. At the full of the moon in some places trout bite better at midnight than at midday.

Quite a number of fishermen have visited the falls at Oregon City during the past week with varying success, on the whole rather poor. As soon as the Columbia rises the fishing will be better.

The Dayton Sunday school and friends will be here on Tuesday on the Multnomah, touching at Alder street at 10:30 A. M. They are on the way to Multnomah falls and will return home late the same day.

Now is the time to clear the moss off your roofs. As soon as dry hot weather comes the moss is liable to take fire from the least spark, and it is there very dangerous. There is an ordinance requiring householders to attend to this matter, and a penalty for neglecting it.

THE "PORTLANDS" DEFEATED.

The Reorganized "Stars" Lay them Out, 8 to 3, in the First Game for the League Championship.

Yesterday afternoon the baseball season opened in earnest at "The Oaks" and the Portlands were walloped by the Stars to the tune of 8 to 3. Mullee, the new pitcher from San Francisco, did it. That is to say he did his full share. If yesterday's game was a fair sample of his work he is a first rate pitcher. His delivery is seldom swift, but nearly always puzzling. He watches bases very closely, throws well, knows every trick and is remarkably spry. For instance, a short hot ball was batted to him just within reach. He grabbed for it with one hand, slipped and fell flat on his face, but he got to his feet and threw the [ball] to first in time to catch the batter. Creegan supported him in fine style. Calhoun, the new short stop, played his position well and gives promise of making a valuable infielder.

The Portlands played in hard luck. Their every error was costly, and it happened that all were made in the innings when the Stars made seven of their eight safe hits, and after chances had been given to put three men out. Generally the Portlands excel as base runners, but yesterday they acted as if afraid in that important part of the game. However, they were outplayed all around. Coulter distinguished himself by driving the ball down into the right field corner and making a clean home run—the first ever made on the grounds. Bailey pitched for the Portlands in the last three innings and in that time only one of the Stars reached first base, and five men struck out. He seems to have the making of a fine pitcher.

There was a very large attendance—nearly 1,000—about equally divided in sympathy between the contesting nines. No good play went by without applause and no bad error without jeers. The weather was just right for players and spectators. Following is

SPRING CLOTHING.

Custom says you should appear well dressed at all times. If you can't afford the finest quality, buy those within your means. We cater for all kinds of trade, we try to please the poor as well as those who are rich. We have fine fitting, stylish suits for men in heavy or medium weights at $10 and upwards. We don't say that we give you a fine all-wool suit for ten dollars, for we can't do it, but we can give you excellent value and all-wool suits in a great many styles at $15, $18, $20 to $25, and we say this: Please don't compare our ready made clothing with that usually sold here in Portland. Our clothing is specially manufactured for us in New York city, and we are very careful to see that we give the very best value for the very least possible money. We are now prepared to show you an immense stock of Summer Suits. Our Blue Flannel and Yacht Cloth Suits, pure indigo-dyed and warranted fast color, cannot be equaled. We have over fifty styles elegant new patterns in Summer Suits. We invite you to call on us. No trouble to show goods.

[illegible]

We take pleasure in calling deserved attention to the elaborate exhibit of bargains which we are offering to the public. Our lines of goods are very numerous, and our position to sell true and genuine bargains is not equaled by any house on the coast. We are just in receipt of a very handsome line of seasonable Boys' Clothing. Our prices on them are just about one half of what other establishments charge, and all mothers can appreciate how thoroughly gratifying it is to buy a boy's nice suit at a moderate price.

Our Millinery Department deserves special comment. It is one of the notable features of our business. We do not "brag" when we assert that our styles in that line would do genuine credit to an exclusive millinery establishment in any of our large eastern cities. The very homely commercial saying that "prices will tell" receives a thorough illustration in our case. Our prices are so low that to say that we sell cheaper than other stores would be a weak phrase for us to use. Our bonnets at two, three and four dollars are sold everywhere at six, eight and twelve dollars. It looks impossible that such a statement could be true, but we earnestly claim that it is the truth.

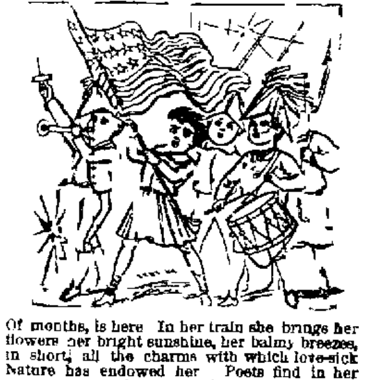
[illegible] the Beautiful Queen



Of months, is here. In her train she brings her flowers, her bright sunshine, her balmy breezes, in short, all the charms with which love-sick Nature has endowed her. Poets find in her presence as much to rave about as heretofore, and will doubtless make quite as good a use of their opportunities.

To PRACTICAL folks, however, her coming suggests other things, that, if less poetical than flowers and moonlight, are certainly quite as important.

To the careful mother she suggests that the clothes the little ones have worn during the wet, rainy season are out of place for warm weather and sunshine.

To the lords of creation it means new suits and new headwear.

To all it means a change of underwear, and additions to their supply of both underwear and hosiery.

To put it in a nutshell, May brings with her seasonable blessings, a plentiful supply of wants.

WE KEEP IN STOCK EVERYTHING THAT APPERTAINS TO A FIRST-CLASS STOCK OF CLOTHING, HATS AND FURNISHING GOODS.

RING POLITICS.

An Examination of Some of the Features of the Republican Platform.

Degeneracy of Public Spirit under the Manipulation of Party by Professional Managers for Selfish Ends.

SILVERTON May 15

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

In your account of the work of the late republican state convention the platform is dismissed with the remark that it is made up chiefly of the platitudes common to the platform literature of all parties but I predict that when you consider it as a whole you will come to the conclusion that it is a most remarkable document both as to what it says and what it neglects to say

The first proposition in which the representatives of the republican party declare themselves in favor of is an honest, efficient and economic administration of all public offices

A wit who was over forty years ago offered a large premium to the political party which would first declare in favor of dishonesty and with extraordinary [illegible] pledges give the people [illegible] administration The premium has [illegible] been awarded as we have heard of

The [illegible] proposition legitimately [illegible] to the [illegible] that [illegible] has [illegible] and defend their record or else denounce [illegible] of the [illegible] officers and explain

The republicans have chosen the former and in the twenty first plank of their platform they have endorsed the present republican state administration under which the most alarming land frauds have been carried almost to completion and by this endorsement have shown not only what the next republican administration may [illegible] say [illegible] to the present officers [illegible] good and faithful servants [illegible] you have begun [illegible] your work [illegible] I stand by you

[illegible]

[illegible] the doings of the present [illegible] and the [illegible] committee [illegible] composed of one delegate from each county [illegible] the most vital question now before the people of the state

[illegible] so far as the work of the state convention goes the republican party of Oregon has [illegible] in the swamp land frauds [illegible] honesty which is [illegible] from any party at any time [illegible] that can be traced [illegible] officers [illegible] been thoroughly indorsed

The work of the state convention while it has given us [illegible] good men is another illustration that politics have degenerated [illegible] a trade or trick, managed by selfish politicians whose interests are generally antagonistic to the public interests

So it was in this case The central power whose head is denominated the Portland regency but whose organization extends throughout the state was willing to grant the people a good and efficient superintendent of public instruction or whatever else does not interfere with the main point viz The possession of the state treasury and continued control of the republican organization

The managing heads of the regency are in league with the swamp land ring as their interests are identical Both get money out of the state by means which an honest administration of public affairs would not tolerate for an instant of time

The state treasurer proceeds upon the plan of selling lands as fast as possible it makes no difference to him who gets them Actual settlers are too slow the princely grabber asking for millions of acres is the fellow for him The bigger the tract the more money And this is the plan of the state board who find in the swamp land claimants under the shotgun filings their brothers in interest Thus land monopolists and the users of state moneys have grown rich and prosperous together Not only so but the controllers of the state treasury are the corrupters of politics the managers of conventions and being the natural allies of all corporations or combinations of men seeking unfair exactions upon legitimate industry the people can obtain no redress of grievances or amelioration of public burdens without a struggle in which they find the legislative bodies in the possession of their enemies or the latter so strongly intrenched therein as to prevent all desirable legislation

The regency prevented any inquiry into the swamp land management at the last session it undoubtedly asked for and obtained an endorsement of the state officers by the state convention and it will be calling upon republicans in the name of their party to carry forward their schemes for another four years

The strangest thing which presents itself to the mind of a dispassionate observer is that good honest loyal republicans who are such upon principle fail to perceive that a leadership of pure selfishness only leads to destruction. A pretense of honesty by platform cannot by any trick of rhetoric be made to hide roguery in practice Calling upon the great name of Gen Grant will not suffice

Resolving in favor of gold and silver for the people while they are by governmental methods habitually cheated out of both is not a saving point

Denouncing democrats and resolving in favor of the right side of a score or more of vague political problems [illegible] hardly catch votes [illegible] high prices to producers and low prices to consumers at the same time is really amusing

All these and some others affirming generally accepted political doctrines or those upon which the great political organizations have no yet divided cannot possibly stand in lieu of the unfulfilled promises made by the state convention of two years ago

The state convention of this year should have reported progress before asking leave to sit again Not promises but performances were first in order There is nothing unreasonable in demanding that a political party which is asking for a new lease of power should show that it has fulfilled its promises to the people Political parties like individuals must be held responsible for their actions must be judged by their successes and their failures or the government will go to ruin Something more is needed than a lengthy dragnet of platform designed only to catch votes Impracticabilities considered as to time and circumstance are not required of parties more than of men but for all such explanation is due and required

The convention however offers no explanation of a course of procedure by the state board which is in palpable violation of public policy opposed to the known will of the people and for which there is no just [illegible] except by showing that the officers were driven to it by the stern demands of an equivocal law

Having endorsed the administration of their officers the republican party must be held to the record those officers have made and further it must be held accountable as a nominating machine for its general tendencies as a preliminary power to government And if after a fair and patient comparison of promises and results it appears that the party is so possessed by the rings or so much under the control of mere self seekers that it is impotent to perform its obligations and carry out its pledges to the people who entrusted it with power then it must be set aside to wait for reorganization and regeneration

There is a very general and growing conviction that political parties are incompetent or inefficient to perform the functions theoretically assigned to them that officers whether derived from one party or another feel under no obligations to the people on account of promises their party made before election, from the fact that they are sure of an endorsement by their party whether they have been bound by the pledges of their party or not whether they have done good or evil.

Under these circumstances it is becoming more and more the practice with considerate people to scan the tickets of the parties in search of honest men men who are independent of rings and free from private arrangements and who regard public office in the light of a sacred public trust from the fulfillment of which [illegible] partisanship [illegible] absolve [illegible] much more than ever before will be the practice this year

One [illegible] democrat writes to [illegible] as follows I wish that you would on receipt of this letter give me some information about the candidates It is reported here that Strahan is a swamp land ring man Now that is what we want to know about it Please let me know also about Cornelius There is quite a large body of us down here belonging to both parties who do not intend to vote for any swamp land ring man at least if we know it I have distributed the pamphlets and sent you $40 by express

This democrat says he never voted anything but a straight ticket was in the convention that helped to nominate Thayer for governor also helped to nominate him for judge but he now sees what thousands of others saw that politics is a trade in which the self seeking politicians have a controlling interest and from which there is no relief except in the independent vote of the citizen

In the earlier days of the republican party a platform pledge was considered binding upon candidates and no candidate would accept a nomination from a convention resolving in favor of doctrines or making pledges which he could not endorse and which he did not intend to obey Now, however, platform pledges are valueless as indications of the future and resolutions serve rather to cover the villainies of the past

But the people are to blame for this general demoralization in politics inasmuch as they have continued time after time to confirm by their votes each succeeding actor and act, without proper discrimination Practically the distinction between virtue and vice between well doing and ill doing, faithfulness and unfaithfulness have thus been obliterated Objectors are set aside retired to the rear of the party in pursuance of an erroneous policy that true harmony is to be obtained by silencing them.

The whole structure of politics with too little deviation is arranged with reference to the personal advancement of those who by the test of merit are not entitled to promotion Under such discipline even the good are inclined to bow down and pass under the yoke. That this view is not a fancy but a plain statement of facts we have plenty of evidence constantly before us notwithstanding some present symptoms of awakening among the the masses. A few instances will suffice

A republican senator from east of the mountains said, in answer to a request for his vote in favor of continuing the examination of the swamp land management, "I cannot do it without passing a vote of censure upon our state officers." He preferred to keep step in the party with his eye on the principal captain.

Another senator replied: "I don't know whether the state officers are interested in swamp land or not, but they don't want anything done about it."

After the investigation had been killed in the senate I called upon one of the senators from Linn county, a stern old democratic granger, to ascertain from him why he and some fellow-democrats had gone back upon the investigation he had helped to order and his reply was substantially as follows There is Mr W on the committee and we could not get him off the committee without stopping its work Mr W is a promising young democrat who has a future but no man ever survives politically who works upon a committee of investigation The people always [illegible] a man who assists in discovering fraud I have no doubt as to your earnestness and honesty but you will fail Both parties will be interested in killing you

One of the most prominent men in the state said I don't expect to live long enough to see a legislature brave enough and true enough to correct the swamp land frauds

The republicans have passed the age when they dare denounce wrong doing in their own party and we believe it has not been customary with the democrats to do so

They freely denounce each other, and whether it be a fault or a virtue all that the only hope of the country lies in the jealousy with which they bid for the independent vote

The democrats promise that the frauds shall be corrected while the republicans with [illegible] the swamp land applicants indorsed the state board There [illegible] I W D

LETTER FROM PINE CREEK

[illegible] May 10

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

It has been [illegible] the snow has so far disappeared from the lower hills as to permit of prospecting in places Below this altitude (4500 feet) no quartz locations have been made The [illegible] of last year were mostly in the section between the southwest band of Elk creek and the basin ranging from 5 to [illegible]00 feet above the sea level There is an

UNEXAMINED COUNTRY

Several miles in extent lying south and east of Elk creek and east of Pine creek [illegible] croppings from new locations called the [illegible] [illegible] which is well [illegible] There [illegible] free [illegible] the ledge [illegible] cheaply [illegible] and a half from [illegible] the northeast [illegible] of Pine creek [illegible] designated as [illegible] by the prospector [illegible] lower hills are covered with trees and several feet of earth and vegetable [illegible] and there are no croppings [illegible] the eye of the searcher for quartz [illegible] for a ledge with [illegible] and geologists [illegible] the best edges of this country [illegible] discovered [illegible] that they will be found south and east of the [illegible]

The first locations where are now prospected in the [illegible] foot hole [illegible] in depth [illegible] to be designated as [illegible]

THREE CLASSES OF MEN

To develop a mining camp First the [illegible] who finds the ledge but rarely does anything more [illegible] next the small mining capitalists who bonds the mine or takes a share of it for development work and expends two or three thousand dollars on the chance of making several hundred [illegible] the San Francisco, or Denver or Chicago or New York or London operator who will pay a million dollars for a property which can be made to pay dividends on, that sum, but who will not even send his experts to look at an undeveloped property There is no better field in the country than this for men with some knowledge of mining and with a few thousand dollars to risk on their judgments The experiences of last season demonstrated to the locators that it is not possible to sell their claims without development and that in a recent mining field where there are no precedents to guide the work and no disclosed permanent deposits to inspire enthusiasm and boom values they cannot induce small capitalists to risk funds on development work without their surrendering a large part of their locations in return [illegible] It is I think not assuming [illegible] to say that one third of any quartz [illegible] can be had for sinking [illegible] Such a shaft can be sunk [illegible] for about $2000 and if any one of a dozen mines I could name should [illegible] at 300 feet one of the same extent and richness as that shown at twenty or fifty feet a one-third interest there would be worth several hundred thousand dollars. Of course the ledge may peter or the ore may diminish in value but these are the chances of mining everywhere and from the formation all indications are that there are less chances of that kind to take here than in any other mining camp similarly situated No man or association of men should invest $2000 in sinking a prospect shaft upon any other basis than that they can afford to lose the $2000 or rather can afford to risk it upon the chance of making half a million and investments made upon that basis in the Pine creek mines will be wise investments whatever may be the outcome

I promised in a previous letter to give descriptions from time to time of the principal claims in this district and I will commence with an account of

THE WHITMAN

Furnished me by Mr Robert Kelly, better known from Arizona to Alaska as "Bob Kelly" and known everywhere as one of the best and most reliable scientific and practical miners in the country Kelly [illegible] the Douglas Island mine in Alaska and recommended its purchase to Senator Jones He receives and has earned the confidence of the leading San Francisco mining capitalists and his advice concerning a mine—when he can be induced to give it—will carry weight when the reports of more pretentious mining experts would be received with many grains of salt Kelly has had thirty five years experience with pick and drill in the day time and geological works in his cabin at nights and on Sundays. He is a good deal of a pessimist on mines but he evidently believes in Pine creek, or he would not remain here He says of and concerning the Whitman

The Whitman mine is located upon a steep hill side about 2500 feet from Pine creek The vein crops on the surface for about 1000 feet, and at irregular intervals the quartz can be traced for some 3000 feet farther The vein is from two to three feet wide on the surface and the quartz is all of high grade fine milling ore with scarcely a showing of sulphurets. A considerable portion of the ore will assay several hundred dollars per ton and some of it will go much higher The vein is situated on the eastern side of the hill its strike being nearly north and south and its dip westerly or into the hill at an angle of about 50 degrees, but there is little doubt that as depth is attained the dip will increase until the vein shall become perpendicular when it will gradually take its true and eastern dip This point will be reached when the vein is prospected to a perpendicular depth of about 800 feet or at a point equal to two thirds of the distance between the level of the creek and the level of the outcrop of the vein Nearly all north and south veins have an eastern dip yet the veins that are found on the eastern side of the steep hills take in nearly every instance a westerly dip until a certain depth has been attained on the vein This change of dip is occasioned by a creeping of the mountain downward, after the formation of the fissure which contains the vein and which creeping downward increases the width of the base of the mountain at the expense of its height

Prof Luce formerly of Colorado, is the superintendent of the Whitman He has caused an incline to be sunk on the vein to a depth of 100 feet and a station to be opened and a drift to be run on the vein at a depth of fifty feet. Here the grade of the quartz is as rich as at the outcrop, but the vein is irregular in size and not as wide as upon the surface This change in width was doubtless caused by a diorite dike twenty feet thick which runs about twenty feet above the mouth of the incline obliquely, cutting through the vein at a point sixty feet north of the incline The fifty foot level was started in the incline where the dike was first encountered and the drift continued on nearly a line with the dike until it passed through it when the vein assumed its former size and richness The incline was continued downward in the dike until a depth of 100 feet was reached and until the incline had passed through the dike Here a second station was [illegible] and a drift run but here the vein is somewhat irregular in size the ore being fully as rich as on the surface The drift run at both the fifty and one hundred foot stations are in what might be termed the transition or dividing line both above and below the dikes from the country rocks at those points While the vein in passing through the dike contains considerable quartz its size can in no way be measured by its width in the dike The first effort of nature in the formation of veins is to create a fissure and if the fissure cuts or is opened through a dike of a comparatively recent formation, the dike matter from the higher temperature existing at the time of its formation will be less dense than in other parts of the fissure The dike matter being more plastic than the country rock the sides of the fissure in such dike will creep and bulge and in places fill the fissure completely leaving the unfilled portions of the fissure to receive the silicious matter and metals This, without doubt is the condition of a large portion of the ground prospected by the Whitman company Quartz or silicious matter does not act as a wedge to create a fissure but the rent in the rocks being made it is filled by precipitation and the character and richness of such quartz as is in the Whitman dike is [illegible] of what may be expected when the excavations shall have entered the section beyond the influence of the dike Prof Luce is about to recommence the sinking of the incline and we may in the near future expect to hear of further good reports from the Whitman

The tide of emigration is turning this way Five teams from Idaho arrived yesterday and sixty more are reported to be on the road.

A TREND IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION.

Thirteenth Annual Conference of Charities and Correction.

Our institutions favor improvements in everything that concerns the customs of society, or affects its welfare Reforms are easily introduced in consequence of our political equality The spirit of inquiry is abroad Changes are often submitted to experiment when the prospect of a benefit rests alone on probabilities. Improvements have been made in conforming to sanitary laws in school houses and dwellings in the treatment of the sick in the care of the defective classes and in the management of prisons

But in many instances of needed reform, investigation has gone no further than to reveal the evil The removal waits for action The action waits for popular conviction To produce this, information must be diffused among all classes

There are reforms which must rest upon the moral convictions of the people. Of this character are social and domestic customs which are violations of the laws of nature In this realm the science of physiology should be our guide, and suggest reform in diet sleep and recreations Attempts to regulate these things by legislation are discountenanced as encroachments upon personal liberty Yet there are violations of the laws of life and morals which affect the whole community in which they are practiced and thus come within the proper range of legislation

Within this range the subjects of improvement touching the management of paupers the defective, the insane and the criminal classes are manifold Early in this century they began to attract the attention of thoughtful people to an unprecedented degree One of the promising symptoms was the interest manifested by some persons who had the management of eleemosynary funds and institutions These subjects were ranged under Charities and Correction They were discussed in social science conventions and prison reform associations and to emphasize the most important of these a national assembly has been annually held for twelve years past

The object of these annual conferences is to obtain and diffuse information respecting benevolent and [illegible] work embracing the care and cure of the insane, the saving and [illegible] protection and reform [illegible] of children and [illegible] of prison management and [illegible] the care of the blind the deaf and dumb and the feeble minded the prevention of pauperism the management of [illegible] and poorhouses in fact every means devised for ameliorating the condition of the defective dependent and delinquent classes of our fellow beings Papers on the different topics are presented by distinguished men supposed to be the best informed in the country on the subject [illegible] Practical men are present in large numbers who have devoted years, perhaps a life time to the study of a specialty Theories are tested by the light of experience The best methods are thus discovered The mistakes (sometimes very costly) of the older states may thus be avoided by the new and every advantage is given to those desirous of improving existing institutions or founding new ones

These national conferences have steadily increased in importance and usefulness Thirty five states were represented at the last which was attended by 400 delegates two of whom were from our state. The next one is to be held at St Paul Minnesota from July 15 to 21 1886 All benevolent charitable penal and reformatory institutions are entitled to send delegates County commissioners, heads and members of legislatures are invited The cost of attendance will be greatly reduced, of which notice will be given hereafter

Rev A L Lindsley D D of Portland, is the corresponding secretary for Oregon to whom letters on the above subjects should be addressed

We hope our state will wheel into the line with the sister states and that full statistics will be tabulated and forwarded to the conference Nothing of this character has as yet appeared and there is surely sufficient reason for bringing the subjects of the conference before the people and the authorities of our state

THE ROOT OF THE TROUBLE.

COSMOPOLIS W T May 1[illegible]

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

The problems that surround labor and capital are daily rising to higher proportions Each paper brings news of fresh outbreaks of violence and crime One is justly alarmed at the boldness and extent and spirit of these uprisings at the extent and power of labor organizations. Not only in this [illegible] in all those countries called the most enlightened there is increasing alarm There is danger—the greatest which this country has yet seen—impending over our homes and all we hold most dear There has been no lack of theories to account for this state of things or remedies to cure them but none of them, so far as I have seen with but one or two exceptions strike at the root of the trouble It is not in dullness of the times in the impoverished condition of labor nor in the oppressions of the rich not in the large foreign immigrations nor in any of these things though they all may [illegible] but in the opinions and sentiments of our age Indeed that which forms the most serious aspect of our present troubles is their pervasiveness On every hand, among the rich as well as the poor among the intelligent as well as the ignorant you find these feelings and sentiments which bring mobs and strikes and riots as their direct fruit. The seeds of communism are being sown by the very men upon whom the ruin of harvest must come The feeling in the heart of the laborer that he works hard and gets too little—that the rich employer is grasping the lion's share the tendency to combine in order to compel or protect the feeling of antagonism and bitterness that leads to strikes to associations and violence and mobs the taxes of tyranny, brutality of fire and bloodshed are but outcroppings—necessary outcroppings—of the present state of things

There is a total lack of reverence a lack of respect for sacred and vested rights a lack of regard for law and authority, a forgetfulness of God and accountability During the last quarter of a century the tendency has been toward an exaggeration of personal liberty and personal ability to destroy to tear down or weaken those great principles—the safeguards of life and happiness which our forefathers laid down—and to destroy the element of reverence in human nature. The doctrine of the rights of men to life reputation and property to liberty and the pursuit of happiness as something sacred and inalienable something not to be touched but to be revered, has passed out of mind The thought of a God as creator and ruler, who has established laws under which we are born and before which we must submit or be punished, has become a traditionary sentiment. And this is especially true of the monied men, the successful men of to-day These because they have stronger wills and have become masters have been industriously teaching that there are no rights which may not be modified nothing so old or sacred but it may be changed if it suit their purposes or pleasures nothing to be revered or before which they are to stand in awe They drive their trains their factories their business on the Sabbath They lead the masses on and pander to their vices They have taught the people that success makes right and property only is valuable, that Mammon alone is honorable and methods are to be judged as contributing to it They have little reverence but are inflated with the feeling of individual importance Instead of probity and integrity you hear of business honor and shrewdness The former words are almost lost sight of in our speech They have been hurrying on in a mad race over rights and laws over shrines and temples until they have heaped up wealth

And the same sentiments that filled their breasts, the same feelings that actuated in them is now seething and working in the thousands of underlings, and it is working out in the only way it can work out, and we are only at the beginning of this line of things It would be most instructive to study the condition of France just before the bloody scenes of the revolution Says a distinguished author: "Except in a few instances, the Christianity both of faith and practice had disappeared from France The French peasant cared no more for the rights of man than for the quarrels of Achilles and Agamemnon The priest, who should have attended to his duty was dancing attendance in the ante-room of a great lady in Paris" There is to-day the same want of religious sentiment the same disregard of the rights of man the same disposition to combine in opposition to the successful few, the same want of all wholesome restraints with wilder and larger mass Russia Germany, Ireland England France have been pouring their discontented subjects into our land until they are in the ascendency and I think we can confidently expect if this state of things continues that before the next quarter of a century shall have passed we shall see results in comparison with which the scenes of the Paris commune were but infantile

As a people we are irreligious The deep and wholesome restraints of religion taught in our schools and upheld and sanctioned by our laws are lost We need to teach that there is a God that he has given laws that some things are divine and unalterable some things before which men are to walk softly with uncovered head, that there are divine rights inalienable because God has made them a sanctity about some things because God is concerned for them and in them Man has a right to his life to his good name to the truth to enjoy and possess property which he has rightfully gained It is his not another's Men are accountable There is a punishment for violations of God's law as sure as the sun shines.

Secular education is not sufficient. It is dangerous alone We must have the ten commandments and the Sermon on the Mount at least read and taught and enforced in our public schools.

And the one landmark of religion which the law recognizes must be supported and guarded—Sunday as a day of rest and soberness if not of religious observance must be enforced by law As a nation we are far off from the lines of all moral progress and growth Liberty is becoming the watchword of anarchy

Said George Washington in his farewell address to the American people "National morality cannot be separated from religion, whose teachings and sanctions are its only sure foundation."

Such were the sentiments handed down to us by nearly all the founders of this republic, and only as we come back to them shall we avert the impending disaster We were founded upon the principles of Christianity and our only deliverance from anarchy is by a return to them

Purify Your Blood.

Your blood may be laden with impurities, but Hood's Sarsaparilla will thoroughly cleanse it, enrich and vitalize it. The most severe cases of scrofula, salt rheum boils pimples,—in fact all affections arising from impure blood yield to Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier It also cures dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache kidney and liver complaints, sharpens the appetite, and builds up the whole system

Charles O [illegible] Roberts East Wilson, N Y had 13 scrofulous sores on his face and neck. Nothing helped him until he took Hood's Sarsaparilla, which effected a complete cure His druggist says it is "A Great Victory for Hood's Sarsaparilla"

Hood's Sarsaparilla

I have been troubled with scrofulous humor and sores breaking out all over my body for the last fifteen years I have taken four bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and it has entirely cured me I recommend it very highly to any one troubled with scrofula or any blood disease [illegible] 1619 Campbell street, Kansas City Mo

Hood's Sarsaparilla has been used with perfect success in our family for cancer in the stomach and impure blood My little one is entirely cured, and we shall continue its use as a family medicine " Mrs. F [illegible] Somerville Mass
